

BEHIND NEW SCIENCE

TONI SCORSESE

rarely predicted
each pilot study
bred delightful insight

the young scientists
charted fluke of chance collecting data
with mutual fascination and audible gasp

and as paradigms shift
did line of investigation favor a deeper wisdom

they tested several theories but confidence levels
set too high
failed to reject the null

long abandoned research nothing published a picnic table was their sole support and lone witness to a life's pursuit of inevitable truth
