

NERVE CELLS

TONI SCORSESE

Frontal lobes need to function shortly and they're mired in a pit of angst

How many days will I shroud my head in this grief?

It's my decision, isn't it?
(And PHUCK THAT! It's an old blanket – none more self-serving than this)

No degree in neuroscience will suss it Synaptic connections
have been established
tenaciously rooted
Surgical pruning won't weaken them

I wish the cardiac cells would send a message to the neural ones already
